DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the prior art disclosed in Figures 16 & 17 by Arai et al. (U.S. Patent 5353735) [hereinafter Prior Art] in view of Sproule (U.S. Patent 2173316).

The Prior Art discloses an instrument device (Figure 17) comprising a cone-shaped reflecting dial (2) (Figures 16 & 17) having scale marks; a pointer (8b, P) pointing the scale marks and provided in front of the dial (Figure 17); a light source (B) provided behind the dial and supplying light to the pointer (Figure 17) to cause the pointer to emit light (P); and a cover (11) provided in front of the pointer, wherein a reflection member (7A) is provided at a rotation center of the pointer; wherein the dial is inclined (10a) toward the reflection member; and the reflecting dial is illuminated with light emitted from the pointer (col. 2 lines 25-35) and the reflection member (Figure 17); wherein this prior art embodiment is known to have a low light transmission rate (col. 2 lines 45-50).

The Prior Art does not disclose that the scale marks and the pointer are visually confirmed through the cover.

Sproule discloses an indicating instrument in Figures 7, 8, & 10 with a cover comprising a reflecting member portion (12) and cover glass portion (5) (Figure 7)(i.e. viewing window). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to add the cover glass portion disclosed by Sproule to the cover (i.e.

extending over the entire scale) disclosed by the Prior Art in order to protect the dial while still allowing the scale marks and pointer to be seen by a user.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Christensen discloses a gage illuminator (U.S. Patent 657331).
